

Weekly R.E.A.D.®

Reading Education Assistance Dogs®

Volume 4 Issue 1 – March 27, 2013

Succeeding at R.E.A.D.ing

One of the things that distinguishes you as a R.E.A.D. team is your desire to continue to grow and learn. That is one of the big reasons people become R.E.A.D. members—to have the opportunity to share ideas and learn from each other.

We are delighted to announce a new continuing education series: Succeeding at R.E.A.D.ing. This is a series of presentations from experienced R.E.A.D. teams that offers ideas for you to consider incorporating into your R.E.A.D. program.

Succeeding at reading is vital to children's eventual success in school—on the job, in socio-economic achievement, and even to their health. We've learned a lot over the years and we're always eager to learn more and share it. So we're pleased to bring you this series of videos designed to help handlers in their ongoing quest for Succeeding at R.E.A.D.ing.

A series like this could go on forever, funding permitting; meanwhile, we are thrilled to share the first four videos in the series with you now! Access them at: youtube.com/ita4me

Arranging Your R.E.A.D. Environment with Nancy Brooks

Successful R.E.A.D. Programs at School with Karen Burns

Data is a Four-Letter Word with Theresa McKinney

Selecting Books for R.E.A.D. with Nancy Brooks

These videos can be viewed independently, or you might consider showing them at a meeting with your R.E.A.D. affiliate group members as a basis for discussion.

We would love to hear your feedback—please share your comments and build on the ideas presented with more of your own. We look forward to hearing from you in the R.E.A.D. Forum!

Kathy Klotz, Executive, Director, Intermountain Therapy Animals & R.E.A.D.

Nancy Brooks, R.E.A.D. Education Manager

